Tasting notes

Very pretty perfumed raspberry notes, the most aromatic of the three village wines and also the most mineral. This cuvée again shows the depth of its old vine fruit and has notably more concentration and mid-palate density. Excellent length too.

Reviews

Good medium red. Pure aromas of blackberry and blueberry lifted by mint and menthol. Juicy and supple, with moderate intensity and ripe, harmonious acidity. Nicely balanced wine with a savory finish featuring slightly dry tannins. Pascal Lachaux believes that 2009 will be a "mid-term vintage," while the 2008s "will be good early and late" and may never shut down.

87 Points, Stephen Tanzer
