Tasting notes

---

A Bâtard with imposing presence, this begins with soft stone fruits, building quickly into something far more expansive, combining cream, almond and a little vanilla and releasing the aromas across the palate with considerable power. The volume in the mouth is considerable and combined with the impressive energy of the wine, this creates a memorable experience. This may not win awards for subtlety but it won't leave you guessing either!

About the producer

One producer who expresses more than others the spirit of Chassagne-Montrachet. With pure, elegant wines that are always approachable in youth but have an incredible capacity of ageing and developing in the cellar for decades. Jean-Marc and Claudine Blain consistently produce some exemplary wines at village level and release some of the most sought-after Grand Crus from their tiny holdings of Caillerets.
