

2010 Barbaresco Sorì Tildìn

Gaja Piedmont, Piedmont, Italy

Product details

Vintage:	2010	Drinking:	Now 2040
Producer:	Gaja Piedmont	Alcohol:
Region:	Piedmont	Variety:
Country:	Italy

Tasting notes

The 2010 is an extraordinary Sorì Tildin with a powerful bouquet of wild strawberries, rose petals and sweet raspberry fruits intermingled with exotic spices and aromatic herbs. On the palate, there are layers of sweet red cherry fruits with a core of smooth ripe black cherries and plums. All this is balanced by lovely, refreshing acidity and very refined, smooth tannins with a complex mineral quality on the long finish. A deliciously integrated and extremely elegant wine with plenty of ageing potential, it will be approachable in a few years if you can't wait.

Reviews

Wow. Impressive, complex aromas of lilacs and dried strawberries, with hints of flower stems. Full body with focused, polished tannins. It draws you to the centre palate of the wine and seems to last forever. Makes you want to drink it now but will be better still in 2016. Score: 97 Points James Suckling

About the producer

