Tasting notes

A wine which shows incredible elegance and depth. A bright redcurrant and plum bouquet with hints of cedar and spice, is followed by pure redcurrant flavours with dark fruits in the background. The tannins are very refined and harmonious and a vibrant, refreshing acidity gives definition and poise. Powerful, yet reserved, this is a real classic of the vintage. Drink 2017 - 2030

About the producer

Frequently cited as punching above its weight in the classification stakes, this 5ème Cru classe has a complicated history, not unusual given the inheritance laws in France. The estate again began to produce wine that was not only worthy of the 1855 classification it had inherited but outperformed it. Francois Xavier now sits at the helm and undertook an extensive programme of investment, innovation and renovation. The wines have seen a serious upturn after the doldrums of the early part of the 20th century and now deserve the widespread acclaim they have achieved.
