Tasting notes

Grassy and floral with spicy lift. Stone fruits and lemon flesh. This is taut, intense and long with excellent concentration, direction and drive. The ripe fruit which is characteristic of Zotzenberg is perfectly balanced by surging minerality and crisp, bright acidity. This will reward cellar time but is already lovely to drink and I wouldn't hesitate to decant and drink with food.

About the producer

Founded in 1853, Domaine Boeckel is now run by the 5th generation of winemakers, Jean-Daniel and Thomas Boeckel. A true Alsatian gem, the Domaine stretches over 23ha of vineyards now farmed according to organic viticulture. Their pure, mineral and elegant wines are a great way to start exploring the depth and potential of Alsace. From the only vineyard in the world to produce Sylvaner with Grand Cru status, to their concentrated and powerful Rieslings to bewitching Gewürztraminer, there is plenty for any wine aficionado to love. Those are wines perfect to experiment with food-wise.
