About the producer

Established in 1550 in the village of Chambolle-Musigny, Boursot Père & Fils encapsulates the essence of heritage and distinction. Romaric and Romuald are the 15th generation to manage their 4 hectare estate and while the winemaking style is modern, they utilise ancient winemaking instruments such as amphorae to add complexity to their wines. The Boursot family prides itself on a commitment to sustainable viticulture relying on the knowledge of their ancestors, ensuring the preservation of their terroirs, and producing wines that capture the essence of Burgundy's rich soils. Meticulous attention to detail and an unwavering dedication to excellence define their winemaking process, producing a portfolio of wines celebrated for their elegance.
